Reverse victorious quadriga to left; in exergue helmet, thorax, greaves and shield. These may be the arms taken from the Athenians and offered as prizes in the Assinarian games which were established to commemorate the defeat of the Athenians. This is an excellent example of this beautiful coin but unfortunately must have been buried alongside of a piece of iron or some other dark metal as there are black spots on the head and the rim of the reverse has been badly discolored and partly removed by a clever engraver.
